

DERO's Rankings Report

This past week was a very bizarre week of fantasy football. We saw a number of ridiculously close games, a lot of low scores, and the team that has been at the bottom of league scoring all year put up a league high for the week. Congrats to Jordan for finally making it into the win column. He needed every point he scored after beating Players to Be Named Later who put up the league's second highest score on the week. Both Nate and Santi barely snuck out of the matchups with wins. Charbonnet Sauvignon got to 5-1 while winning by .42 points and Kirko Chains won by .24 points. It's funny to think the one more 5 yard rush from one of Tino's RB is all it would have taken to beat Santi and even worse, one 3 yard rush from anyone on Jaylen's squad would have taken out Nate. This week's results have really accentuated the discrepancy between the teams at the top of the standings versus those at the bottom. There is only one 3-3 team which is a far cry from last year where we had 4 teams at 3-3 at this point in the season. It feels only fitting that we look at how each team performs when the games are close versus how they do when the game is a blowout.

Manager Efficiency Rankings

1. Jaylen (94.46%) 0 ranking change
2. Christian (92.91%) +2
3. Pat (92.90%) -1
4. Santi (92.01%) -1
5. Jordan (91.04%) +1
6. Isaac (90.34%) -1
7. Casey (89.00%) 0
8. Nate (88.69%) 0
9. Tino (83.74%) 0
10. Brandon (82.16%) 0

League Average - 89.73%

Efficiency is determined by points scored versus possible points scored.

Clubby League Final Power Rankings

1. Baby Got Dak (81.48 ranking pts; 4-2 record; 0 ranking change)

- Another solid week for Christian. His team sits atop the rankings and leads the league in scoring. The RB position may become his biggest test after McCaffrey went down to injury and he has multiple other RBs on the IR coming into the week. Baby Got Dak will be looking to catch one of the three teams in front of him in the standing this week in Charbonnet Sauvignon.

2. Players To Be Named Later (55.57; 3-3; +5)

- I think this has to be the biggest jump I've seen in these rankings. Scoring in the top 2 the past couple of weeks has boosted this team to second in scoring overall. It does also help that most of the rest of the league struggled to score. Things may be getting dicey for this roster as the injuries continue to pile up. Players To Be Named Later will look to stay healthy and hold their position in these rankings as they take on a hungry team in Basically the Bills.

3. Kirko Chains (53.70; 5-1; -1)

- The fall continues in the rankings despite the win. Nate was able to scratch out a win despite not breaking 100 points for the second straight week. Not only that but he barely eked out the win this past week. Much like the rest of the league, it has been a struggle to stay healthy. The biggest key to winning this league might be who is the healthiest down the stretch. Nate will look to lead his squad to another victory as he takes on PGill.

4. PGill (52.22; 2-4; -1)

- It's been a struggle for Pat thus far. He's had draft picks that just haven't panned out and that has led to a struggle to score. I think one of the biggest positives he has heading into this week's matchup is health. He is one of few teams that has a roster with no injury designations going into Sunday. Health will be a huge factor as he takes on a team who hasn't had that kind of luck these past couple weeks in Kirko Chains.

5. Charbonnet Sauvignon (51.47; 5-1; 0)

- o Charbonnet Sauvignon continues to find ways to win. He won the second closest game on the week against Tino, where he won by less than a single point. Santi's squad has yet to score under 100 points this season. Charbonnet Sauvignon has been consistent enough that they were one of the few teams to not move in the rankings this week. Santi will look to stay on the winning path as he takes Baby Got Dak who sits atop these rankings.

6. The Stache (47.33; 5-1; +2)

- o The Stache might be the worst case scenario for everyone else in the league. Unlike Caseys Dad, The Stache might be on the rise to match their record. Casey's squad sits near the top of the standings and has very few injuries to deal with on the roster at this point. If Casey continues to rise and find ways to win, we may be talking about a successful title defense at the end of the season. The Stache will be looking to pick up another win against Santiagos Wealth.

7. Basically The Bills (46.20; 2-4; -1)

- o Tino's squad might be a candidate to rise in the rankings much like Players To Be Named Later did. He's fielding a strong squad right now that has just barely been failing to get into the win column. The brutal loss last week doesn't help the cause, but a couple strong weeks could see Tino go from a bottom feeder to a contender rather quickly. He'll take on Players To Be Named Later who was the biggest riser in the rankings this week.

8. Caseys Dad (42.79; 1-5; -4)

- o I felt like something was going to give when it came to Jaylen's squad. Either the record would catch up to the ranking or the ranking would catch up to the record. It turns out the ranking dropped to the record. Jaylen still boasts the highest manager efficiency. It hasn't seemed to matter much because his team has still struggled to score. Last week's loss was a brutal blow as he lost by less than a quarter of a point to the number one team in the standings. This is a big week for Caseys Dad as they'll be participating in the Bottom of the Standings bowl against Markakis' Anaconda to see who will be the last place team.

9. Santiagos Wealth (34.36; 2-4; 0)

- o Unfortunately for Isaac his team did not find a way to get back to .500 last week. Even with the loss, Santiagos Wealth stays tied for the last playoff spot. On the bright side, Santiagos Wealth boasts a squad currently without an injury designation. Healthy teams might become the prize possession as the season continues to progress. Isaac's squad will look to get back into the win column against The Stache.

10. Markakis' Anaconda (30.54; 1-5; 0)

- o Jordan has finally done it. He won a game. It only took scoring a league high on the week while playing the second highest scoring team in the league. Jordan is officially a part of the playoff race now. He only sits a game out of a playoff spot which is wild, considering he dropped his first 5 games. This week Markakis' Anaconda will participate in the Bottom of the Standing Bowl as he takes on Caseys Dad. A win this week will get him out of the cellar and legitimately in the hunt for that 6 seed.

Ranking points are not points scored but are a weighted average using normalized points scored, points against, coaching efficiency, and total roster points.

Wildcard Ranking of the Week: Close Games & Blowouts

Whose been in the most close games

1. Jaylen (4 games; 0-4 record in those games)
2. Tino (3; 2-1)
3. Santi (2; 2-0)
4. Isaac (2; 1-1)
5. Nate (1; 1-0)
6. Casey (1; 1-0)
7. Pat (1; 1-0)
8. Christian (1; 0-1)
9. Jordan (1; 0-1)

Close games are games that finished with a less than 10 point margin of victory. Managers who are unranked have not had a game within 10 points.

Whose been in the most blowout games

1. Nate (5 games; 4-1 record in those games)
2. Christian (5; 4-1)
3. Casey (4; 3-1)
4. Brandon (4; 2-2)
5. Pat (4; 1-3)
6. Isaac (4; 1-3)
7. Santi (3; 2-1)
8. Jordan (3; 0-3)
9. Jaylen (2; 1-1)
10. Tino (2; 0-2)

Blowout games are games that finished with more than a 25 point margin of victory.